McKellar Introduces New Muscle Shoals Bill

TENNESSEE SOLON ASKS DISTRIBUTION OF SURPLUS POWER

Measure Provides For The Construction Of Dam Number 3

NEW COMMISSION ALSO IS PROPOSED

Tennessean To Oppose House Resolution, He Announces

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, today introduced his Muscle Shoals bill, which he announced several days ago would be offered as a substitute for the house resolution, which was reported by the senate agriculture committee.

He declared he was opposed to the resolution, which would turn Muscle Shoals over to a joint congressional committee for disposal, because he believed the government should retain the plant and distribute surplus power.

The McKellar measure would create a Muscle Shoals commission of three, one of whom would be the director of the government fixed nitrogen research laboratory and the others appointed by the President.

The government would be authorized to build dam number three which would increase the primary power at Muscle Shoals.

Senator McKellar issued the following statement in explanation of his bill:

"In other words my proposal distributes the power fairly and sees to it that the people using the power shall get the benefit of reduced prices."

"It provides for the establishment of a corporation to be owned by the United States so that it can deal properly with the public."

"It requires the last word in experimentation for the purpose of making fertilizer if an economical process can be obtained; so that the farmers may be protected absolutely it provides for the recall of surplus power, if necessary, in order that the fertilizer interest shall be made paramount."

Junior Order Aids Hospital Campaign

Albany Council No. 22 Jr., O. U. A. M. met in regular session Saturday evening and held an interesting and profitable meeting. A committee composed of Dr. F. R. Beason and Sam W. Foster of Winona Council No. 3 of Decatur were present and spoke in the interest of the Hospital Drive. Soon to begin. A committee was appointed to confer with his and other committees from Morgan County Councils and much enthusiasm was manifested.

The Council went on record as heartily endorsing the drive and feels sure that a nice sum from the Junior Order of Morgan County will be pledged. Committees will visit Hartsville, Austinville and other Councils in the interest of the drive.

MEN GATHER TO MAP OUT DRIVE

Business Like Meet Marks Last Of The Pre-Campaign

Workers under the men's banner in the Benevolent Hospital campaign picked up final details at the Albany High school auditorium last night, preparing for the opening of the drive on Thursday morning. Following instructions from the directors and leaders of the drive the workers checked over lists of prospects included in every section of these cities.

Representatives, selected from every business and walk of life in the Twin Cities, listened intently as J. B. Claff, director, instructed them in the methods adopted for the nine-day period, during which time every class of activity in this section has been set aside that nothing might hinder the progress of success to the $60,000 goal.

Team workers were seated at long tables where the work of checking over prospects was concluded. Intensive work has been the part of the directing board in assembling the names of wage earners, business men, manufacturers, and agricultural classes in this county, a complete list being turned over to the various teams.

After the checking of the names and directing committee was again hard at work today in placing the names with the respective teams so that no two teams will visit the same prospects. The general atmosphere of confidence pervaded the gathering, leaders feeling that the test of raising the desired amount is going to be difficult, but with the spirit that has been shown thus far by the workers, both men and women, that the culmination of activities on February 19 will witness the final success of the drive, assuring adequate hospital facilities for many years to come for the Twin Cities and surrounding counties.

Odd Fellows Visit Lodge at Athens

S. W. Foster, J. L. Plemons, J. L. Buchanan, E. H. Akers and W. L. Hutchett went to Athens Tuesday evening and were visitors to Athens Lodge of Odd Fellows. A very interesting meeting was held at which time four applications were received and favorably acted upon. The members present expressed themselves as feeling sure that the coming term would show a decided gain in membership.

WASHINGTON Feb. 8.—Eight and one half inches of snow today covered the streets of Washington, disrupting traffic and delaying thousands of persons getting to their work.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Feb. 8.—Flurries of snow fell throughout the forenoon in this region and the mountains are covered with snow to a depth of two inches.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—North-eastern United States, not yet dug out from under the snow banks left by last week's blizzard, today was swept by another storm of equal fury.

Train schedules were disrupted. Surface cars and motor traffic were all but paralyzed.

Driving down on a northeast gale, the blinding wall of falling snow largely nullified the efforts of thousands of workmen throughout the section to clear streets and highways of the previous fall which already had cost millions of dollars.

The gale swept out to sea, piling up mountainous waves which hampered shipping along the Atlantic.

New York's six million inhabitants were virtually snow-bound. The greater city lay as a giant paralyzed as the second blizzard within a week disrupted train service and demoralized city traffic and buffeted shipping within and without the port.

At noon nine inches of snow had fallen since last night and the storm was raging more fiercely than ever. The snow was driven by a 52-mile gale.

During the height of the storm, ten armed men swooped down upon a garage in South street and stole an automobile truck loaded with $10,000 worth of chewing gum.

Two negro watchmen were kidnapped by the men and driven away in a smaller automobile to Mt. Vernon where they were freed and reported the robbery to police.

The army of 19,000 snow shovellers which has been at work since last Thursday in an effort to clear away the streets, today fell back to strategic centers that must be kept open. Today's fall added to last week's gave the city an average depth of 20 inches of snow in less than a week. Where this was piled up by the wind and snow plows, the drift reached a depth of six feet.

A score of railway trains were stalled in the snow drifts, some of which were ten feet deep. In the snow bound northeastern section of the United States late this afternoon, according to reports reaching here.

Snow still was falling. Eight trains were stalled in New England and a dozen more snowed in on Long Island. All schools in New York state and many in surrounding states closed. County court closed on Long Island.

PONZI AND HIS WIFE PUT UNDER ARREST

Search Is Ended When Capiases Are Served By Deputies

(Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 10.—Charles Ponzi and his wife, Rosa Maria, were arrested in the office of Ponzi's attorney, Frank Brennan, shortly before noon today. Capiases were served by sheriff's deputies, ending a 36-hour search for the financier.

Ponzi will attempt to make bond for his wife and himself. Ponzi is charged on four counts with violating the Florida law relating to the conduct of business, under a declaration of trust. He was indicted by a Duval county grand jury late Monday, while in Tampa. He drove from Tampa to Jacksonville, arriving yesterday morning, and evaded arrest until today to complete arrangements for his defense and for making bond.

TWO ATTEMPT TO TAKE OWN LIVES

Shot In Abdomen Fatal To Farmer Living Near Morris

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 10.—Authorities were investigating two attempts at suicide today within the Birmingham district one of which proved fatal. Eddie Baine, 47, a farmer, living near Morris, Ala., fired a shot into his abdomen Sunday with suicidal intent according to reports. He was taken to a hospital here where he died Tuesday.

C. E. Irwin, resident of Avondale, attempted suicide this morning in the Avondale cafe by swallowing poison, authorities said.

Upon arrival of the ambulance and officers, Irwin is said to have asked for a gun to finish his attempt at suicide. When the poison began to take painful effect he is said to have suddenly changed his mind about the matter and to have demanded immediate medical attention. He is in a local hospital where his condition is regarded as serious.

Coroner J. D. Russum is investigating both cases.

Officers' Cases Are Set for Trial

The cases of Officers J. M. West and Robert E. Stewart, charged with murder in connection with the death of Asberry Murry, negro, who was killed during a liquor raid in Oklahoma, several months ago, have been set for hearing next week.

Officer West's case today was docketed by Judge Kyle in circuit court for Monday, February 15 and the case of Officer Stewart was docketed for Wednesday, February 17.

About 100 jurors have been summoned to appear here, from which a jury will be selected for the trial.

NOTICES LATER

Publication of the properties of persons who are delinquent in payment of county and state taxes will be made a little later on, it was stated today by J. H. Hill, tax collector Morgan county. Mr. Hill declared that the work of preparing lists will probably be started in a few days, publication to follow about April, he thought.

GERMANY STARTS PEACE OFFENSIVE

Lively Interest Shown In Participation Of America In Court

(Associated Press)

ROME, Feb. 10.—Replying in the Italian senate today to yesterday's address by Foreign Minister Stressemann of Germany Premier Mussolini said:

"I confirm the letter and spirit of my previous speech, not excluding the accent upon my phrase referring to the possibility of the Italian flag going beyond the Brennero frontier, which Stressemann can interpret as he chooses."

GENEVA, Feb. 10.—Germany has launched her peace offensive here. Germany's election and her designation as a permanent member of the council are expected to be followed by her adherence to the permanent court of international justice. German circles show lively interest in America's conditional adherence to the court, and they seem anxious to know whether the United States senate's reservations will prevent consummation of American membership.

The question is being discussed already whether Germany, showing the way to those great powers who have not yet subscribed, will sign the compulsory arbitration clause of the court.

Romine Cases Are Concluded Today

A verdict of "not guilty" was returned this morning in Circuit Court against Buck Romine and Sel Romine, negroes, held on charges of murder in the second degree. A second case in which the negroes were charged with second degree murder was not pressed. The negroes were tried in connection with the deaths of Asa and Osa Jackson, the altercation alleged to have taken place July 5, 1925 at a country church in the Somerville section.

The case was tried throughout Tuesday an unusual number of witnesses being heard. The jury finished deliberations between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning and reported their finding to Judge O. Kyle shortly thereafter.

Two Lawrence County Projects Included In Awards

BIDS OPENED AT CAPITAL TODAY

Eleven Miles Of Gravel Highway Planned Near Courtland

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 10.—The Alabama highway commission, in session at the capital today opened bids on roads and bridge projects in five counties.

The commission was tabulating the bids this afternoon and will award contracts immediately upon completion of the tabulation, it was announced.

Lawrence county, two and one half miles of gravel road, extending from Moulton in the direction of Russellville; eleven miles of gravel road, between Decatur and Tusculum, and extending from Town Creek bridge to a point two miles east of Courtland, there to connect with a completed federal aid project.

Russell county: grading and draining of 14 miles of road between Seale and Girard.

Tusculum county: grading and draining of 19 miles of road extending from Tusculum to the Green county line.

Tallapoosa county: building of two miles of gravel and concrete road in the town of Camp Hill. Difference between cost of paving and gravel surface to be paid by citizens of Camp Hill.

Cherokee county: building of steel super-structure of bridge over Coosa river at Leesburg, which bridge will eliminate a ferry where a number of people have lost their lives.

PERMISSION GIVEN TO CONSTRUCT LINE

City Will Use Poles To Place Lines For Alarm System

Permission was given last night by the Decatur city council to the Alabama Water company to erect an electric line from the corporate limits of Decatur on the east to the new water tower in West Decatur.

Ordinance, providing for permission, was adopted by the council at a special meeting of the aldermen Tuesday evening. Two reservations were made, however, the company agreeing that the construction should be under the supervision of the city engineer and the city is given the right to use the company's poles for the city's fire alarm system.

Troup To Speak To Hi-Y Clubs

Judge L. P. Troup will deliver an address at 7:00 o'clock tonight to the members of the Hi-Y clubs of Albany and Decatur on "The Ideals of Americanism." The meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. and an invitation was extended all members of the two clubs to be present at the joint meeting.

ASSAULT CASE ON

The case of Sam Young, charged with assault with intent to murder, was being heard this afternoon in circuit court. The courtrooms and corridors remained crowded today hearing the various cases and waiting call before the grand jury.

CHAPTER XXIII. (Continued)

She laughed, gaily but all she said was, "Heaps!" After awhile she added, "But we mustn't reminisce, Teddy. It may transpire that some day I shall have nothing left but reminiscence. If that happens, I'll want them all saved up. You'll be one of the best of them."

He caught her hand, when she rose, and held her. She did not draw away, but stood quietly, her eyes meeting his. She was so close to him that he felt the warmth and tenderness of her, and that she was almost breathless. For one brief instant his brain went into a riot and he was dizzy. When his head cleared he felt her crushed against him, and realized that it was his own arms that were holding her there, holding her so tightly that already her lips were paling. He would have dropped his arms and released her but she caught them, and for him understood that she was yielding. She was even holding her pale lips to him. When, at last, she stirred, he kissed her again, and then freed her. Before she drew back she said to him:

"I would like to love you, Teddy, and if I could, I would. No one has ever said so fine a thing to me as you have. I don't know how I want you but take me how ever I want. That is no different thing being told that I'm wanted but I mustn't be had! I'll remember whatever happens."

Before they reached the gates of the Villa Amette grounds Joanna brought up his threat to do the sporting thing with Kentworth. "I'd rather you'd not tell him that I know what has been in the past between him and Yvonne," she said. "It doesn't interest me at all, you know."

Somewhat, Teddy thought, it did interest her. He was suddenly hit by her about it and resented, but he didn't have a chance to show, however, because they were turning into the villa path and Joanna, with a flirt of her crop, broke into a final gallop toward the stables.

Dorminster had all the Englishman's love for fine horses. He seldom returned for a ride with Joanna, and these rides through the fragrant beauty of the Riviera hills were as frequent as she would grant, that he did not watch the groom rub down their horses and perform the countless little services which the British stable master finds as necessary to his charges as are the ministrations of a watchful maid to the grooming of her dainty mistress.

Both of the steeds they had ridden that morning had been his gifts to the Golden Girl, brought from the stables in Sussex he had inherited with his other fortunes. It was significant of him that while Roddy Kentworth showered her with things made from diamonds at every dinner, and while Brandon, with a finer sense, found rare bits of jewellery for her delight, Teddy had made it horses, with exquisite trappings coming along in periodical installments.

Joanna left him among the grooms, after an affectionate and appreciative rub at her steed's nose. Martha, who had caught the echoes of the gallop through the bridge path of Villa Amette had hurried out from the house with a soft cap for her mistress's shoulders, but Joanna waved her away and turned in among the beds of gorgeous pansies and French violets which lined the walk on either side up to a glistening white summer house, a miniature of the Petite Trianon of Versailles. This precious summer house, with its broad porches and crystal windows was famous along the Riviera in legends more or less romantic. When the grounds of Villa Amette were thrown open to some guests, the house in the "Amette Trianon" was the center of the blazé festivities. From its porches one might look along far stretches of the deep blue Mediterranean, and weave many idle fancies about the snake-like ships coming in from Suez or stealing along to Corsica.

Joanna dropped onto a step beneath the window and, with her customary trick of pulling up her knees and resting her chin in them, fell into a profound study. She did not notice when her riding crop and from her finger-fingers, nor when Martha, who had been observing her, came across the lawn and stubbornly spread the cap, which was heavy enough to baffle the always cool sea breezes, around her slim shoulders.

Of what Teddy had said to her only one thing hurt a bit. The talk among that circle of butterflies and butterfly hunters which make up the gay colony of gamblers—gamblers in love of one kind or another as well as in money of the only kind—that credited her with deliberately "stealing" from Yvonne, one by one, that rich company of devotees whose constant haunting on about her had classified them as her own particular army of servicable galants. It was true, of course, Brandon, for whom, she knew, Yvonne would have sold whatever soul she had; Roddy Kentworth, who had once been much to Yvonne's content, and who, for some strange reason, might still command her when he chose to drop his gallant mask and tear hers aside; Michael, the Russian, who had saved his fortune from the debacle at St. Petersburg and had been generous with it to Yvonne's benefit; one or two others who flattered around her in London and Paris and who counted in a lesser way, and even Teddy Dorminster himself—for there always had been, before a sort of genuine affection between Teddy and Yvonne which Yvonne had called upon at those times when she was a little tired of everything. All of these had made a corral of her own treasure chest and had climbed into it, each with his separate manner, and separate intent.

Yet Yvonne had never revealed the slightest gesture of concern. Indeed, there were times when Joanna fancied that she glowed in the fickleness of her satellites. It was almost as if she deliberately invited it. And, then, there were other times, Joanna reflected, when she had surprised the weariness in the dense, black eyes of the woman who had been, from her perspective, the ideal pattern a telegram or cablegram, had arrived for her. The servant assured Mademoiselle none had. If John was coming or, as she understood from the conversation she had overheard, he was already someplace near in the South of France, he had sent her no word.

She knew he was in London. He had written from there, his usual letter, glowing with the details of his reception by British architects, telling of some of his plans, and restrained affectionately. He had said he would "run down" to the Mediterranean soon, but had mentioned no time. She made sure of this omission by hunting out his letter and reading it again.

She heard Yvonne come in from the grounds and found a reason for seeking her. They had not been together since the closing hour of the affair at Prince Michael's the night before. They had returned to Villa Amette in different parties and Joanna had retired at once.

Yvonne seemed to nourish no memory of what must have been her chagrin when the whisper went around at Michael's that the Golden Girl had stolen the prince away to a rendezvous that required less possibility of intrusion than that afforded by many palm hung nooks on his own estate. She talked of some of the details of the night before, and didn't mention that she knew of John's coming or arrival.

"Roddy turned up this morning after you had gone," she remarked, "and was in a fearful fret. I gave him what consolation I could which didn't satisfy him. I suggested he join us for tea at the Hermitage. I am supposed to drop in, there, on Michael. You will come along?"

Joanna agreed enthusiastically. "I must make some amends to Roddy," she observed. She didn't add that she was glad of the opportunity to settle the gossip over her and Michael by being seen, casually, with him and Yvonne. She wanted to disabuse any notion that she had time for an affair with this Russian whose emotional amusements were never romantic. She preferred that he remained classified as belonging to the other woman.

When they crossed the lounge into the palm room, at the Hermitage, the smartly groomed women and debonaire, idle men who gather from all parts of the world for this fashionable tea hour, exchanged furtive and curious glances. The two men were most discussed of the Riviera habitués, and the woman and the girl the season's brightest ornaments. For several weeks there had been rumors of some forthcoming event at Villa Amette. The Golden Girl, so the rumors ran, had wearied of such stereotyped thrills as spectacular plays at the roulette tables as were, on the daily calendar among the Cap Martin villas—as Michael's for example. With her apparently endless supply of money and Yvonne's customary disregard of convention to support her, the news was, Mademoiselle Joanna was about to give the Riviera something actually worth while talking about. These echoes were vague, indefinite, but it was observed, workmen already were mysteriously engaged on parts of the Villa Amette grounds.

"I don't imagine his coming will make much of a difference. If he told her of this visit, or if she knew of it, she has not mentioned it. I doubt if she knows. It isn't a thing she would be secretive about."

The other voice was Brandon's: "Nevertheless he will have to be reckoned with. She hasn't seen him since she left America, and the situation is changed now. John Wilmore isn't the fumbling pauper student he was a year ago. He's roused the popular enthusiasm. He is sufficient of a celebrity to be acclaimed in Europe."

"The homage people are paying him probably has ironed out some of the kinks in that contorted philosophy which frustrated her when she wanted to find out how fast a page she could go. He's probably measure up fairly decently now."

Joanna felt the touch of irony in Yvonne's reply: "You'll hardly be afraid that he will measure up to you! Roddy is frankly worried by him. That I can understand because when Roddy goes on an occasional spree he secures a battle in every one's account that gives his quarry a chance inspection. But you are usually confident. And, if I'm not mistaken, you hold the whip and can swing it, whenever you are ready."

"What do you mean by that?" "Only my careful deductions, my dear. I know you too well not to have my conclusions over every move you make. You've been so deliberate in your play that I know you can afford to take your time. That, to me, means you're holding a trump of some kind. I won't ask you if I'm right, for of course you wouldn't tell me—the truth anyway."

He answered something, but Joanna had conquered herself and shut the voices away from her. She recovered her crop, rose quietly and went toward the house.

WOMAN WORKERS ARE READY FOR OPENING OF HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

More than 200 ladies of the Twin Cities were in session Tuesday afternoon in Albany high school to select prospects from whom they will solicit aid for Benevolent hospital's building campaign, which opens Thursday night.

This meeting wound up all campaign organization and detail work. As the opening day approaches the spirit of determination to put it over with a bang, is increasing due to the growing realization of the seriousness of the outcome. The feeling of individual responsibility has gradually drawn all of the best elements in the Twin Cities into the movement, thus assuring the campaign full moral support from all quarters.

Following is a list of the ladies who have chosen prospects for the campaign which opens Thursday evening: Miss Christine Almon, Mesdames C. Arantz, W. R. Alexander, S. E. Arvidson, D. C. What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks And Is Now Strong and Healthy

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11-12 pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Cadell Drug Co., and all druggists—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly frail child for 30 days and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them—Advt.

75% of the Million Dollars
A Day Taxer Paid by the Railroads
Goes to State and Local Governments

The steam transportation lines of the United States are now paying taxes at the rate of $42,000.00 every hour of the twenty-four, Sundays and Holidays included, the gigantic total of approximately $365,000,000.00 per year.

While this budget covers Federal, State, County and Municipal taxes, it is a significant fact that the welfare of the community in which you live is affected to the extent of 75% of this great total. In other words, 75c out of every dollar taxes paid by the railroads goes into state and local treasuries, and every time you buy a railroad ticket or ship a consignment of freight you are contributing to the development of your community and the prosperity of your state and nation.

These tax funds are used to defray the operative expenses of all branches of our Government. They are used to build roads, to operate schools and to support public institutions. For many years past the amount of money paid in taxes by the steam railroads has exceeded that paid in dividends to the owners of railroad securities.

Remember these figures and compare them with the relatively small taxes paid by the bus and truck lines, which are operating over roads built and maintained partly by railroad taxes and which are competing with the steam carriers for your patronage.

Be fair to the railroads—they are affording the American people the greatest transportation service in the history of the world—and at the lowest cost.

In 1925 the I. & N. Railroad paid taxes amounting to over seven million dollars, a sum substantially greater than the dividends paid to its stockholders.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

Moulton News

The Lawrence County Board of revenue and the Moulton Town Council were served an informal dinner on Monday in the Home Economics room of the Lawrence county high school building by the Moulton Civic Club, the dinner was given in token of public appreciation for the progressive spirit manifested by the board of revenue in its management of county affairs in general and in particular its co-operation with the town council and the tax payers of Moulton in paying the public square of the town work recently completed; invitation given each business house in town and each professional man met hearty response and gave an attendance of above thirty. The ladies of the club served the dinner and brief talks were made by W. R. Jackson judge of probate who mentioned the county road building plan, by G. C. Preuit, member of the northwest district on the board of revenue who emphasized the budget plan for the use of the board, a member, A. C. Harris for the northeast district who spoke particularly on the need of good roads through the rural districts for church and schools. Clark Burch, member of town council explained the means of co-operation whereby paving of the streets had been made possible and F. O. Smith another member of the council, made an appeal for co-operation by all for the civic good of the town.

Delegations from various parts of the county met the Board of Revenue Monday in its regular February session; each delegation was making an appeal for assistance in road construction. A strong delegation from Hutton in the west part of the county presented their appeal an representatives from the eastern part of the county near Hodges Store and Oakville appealed for help in building road to Moulton; this delegation, however, was not agreed as to the best route to take after reaching a point near Aldridge Grove six miles southeast of Moulton, one group contending for a route north to the Albany-Decatur-Moulton highway and the other which seemed the larger division to meet the Forest Reservation road south of Moulton at Wren.

A representative meeting of Farm Bureau directors and members was held in Moulton Monday at the office of the bureau to consider a number of routine matters pertaining to the interests of their work. While no formal action was taken at this time by the meeting relative to the matter of a farm agent for the county, there was a general feeling that the next move should be made by the board of revenue in the matter; there was however, a feeling that a man should be found soon and would be. The directors also agreed to place a man at the warehouse in Courtland to look after the business of fertilizer purchases for the farmers.

Efforts are being made to complete the county high school building soon; the masonry work is being finished this week. Many improvements have been made on the grounds and about the building under the direction of the teachers who have detailed various classes to certain sections of the ground or building. Some of the science classes have put out a large number of trees on the ground.

Dry officers under the lead of J. K. Ayers of near Moulton made a raid on three stills about fifteen miles south of Moulton in or near the Forest Reservation and made a capture of the stills with about 1200 gallons of beer. Mr. Ayers and assistants have been very successful within the past month having taken possession of a number of illicit pieces of wet property.

The Parent-Teachers' Association plan to give a valentine party Friday evening in the county high school auditorium for the benefit of the high school.

The prospect for some good political races in Lawrence is bright for the spring and summer; numerous good men are seeking to know what their chances would be in the race for sheriff more so than for any office and for State Senate representing both Morgan and this county, R. E. Coburn of Courtland has announced, for tax collector, A. W. Walker the present incumbent has announced and C. A. Young a member of the board of Revenue now and for several years announces against him. Rush Stockton present tax assessor also has announced for the race.

Blue't Young of Mount Hope and Arthur Young of Landersville were at the meeting of the Farm Bureau Monday in Moulton.

Town Howell of Mount Hope, member of the board of revenue from the southwest district, was in Moulton Monday and Tuesday.

FARM DEMONSTRATION NOTES

Somerville Home Demonstration club met January 29th at the school house. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mary Cunningham. The roll was called and minutes of the last meeting were read. Mrs. W. K. Gilchrist and Mrs. Ina Elam displayed the hats they had made at the millinery school held in Hartselle in January. They were very pretty and well made. After this we discussed having a two-day millinery school to be held here February 18th and 19th at the home of the president Mrs. Cunningham. Miss Hamilton, the Home Demonstration Agent, will be in charge. Mrs. Gilchrist and Mrs. Elam, the delegates to Hartselle school will assist Miss Hamilton. Mrs. Gilchrist and Miss Elam had each member cut and piece true bias strips. The true cutting and piecing is very necessary we were told for our millinery work. After a discussion about materials for hat, shapes, and other articles needed for the millinery school our secretary was instructed to buy the needed articles to be paid for by the club, each member paying 15 cents each. Miss Hamilton will bring hat shapes from our dealer in Hartselle to sell to the club members. We adjourned to meet in a call meeting soon.

Signed: Mrs. Cliff Miller, sec.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

Electric ranges are now in use in 125 Alabama farm homes.

The best modern diet standards call for two servings of vegetables, besides potatoes, for each of us daily.

One of the best crops that the farmer can cultivate during his leisure hours is that of good literature.

Painting is cheaper than repairing.

With a modern kitchen Mrs. Farmer's work will be much easier.

TWO DAY MEETING

A meeting of the County Home Demonstration Agents of district one and two was held in Birmingham at Redmont hotel two days of this week. All County Home Demonstration agents of the two districts, state Specialists, the District Agents, Mr. Duncan, director of extension in Alabama and Miss Harris, state home demonstration agent attended this meeting. Miss Hamilton, Morgan agent attended this meeting Tuesday morning and will return Wednesday night.

Vast Expansion and Advanced Equipment make New Prices Possible

The history of Dodge Brothers drastic price reductions is simple and brief.

A better and better product followed by greater and greater demand.

To meet that demand, an expansion of buildings and equipment involving an expenditure of more than $10,000,000.

Output vastly increased, with consequent reduction in the cost of materials and production.

Installation of advanced labor-saving and quality-increasing equipment. For instance, one giant steel-body press costing $10,000 replaces ten former presses costing $7,500 each, and does the work more efficiently.

Result: The finest line of vehicles in Dodge Brothers history at prices that seem incredible in view of Dodge Brothers traditional quality—

That seem more incredible still when considered in connection with improvements that include—

Rich and attractive new colors.

Smart and stylish new body lines.

Four dependable cylinders.

Absolute smoothness of engine operation.

Greater power, snap and elasticity.

And advanced steel body and windshield construction that afford exceptional driving vision at a time when clear vision and safety are paramount in the mind of every motorist.

A Memphis jury believes in equal rights for women. The unwritten law entered into the trial of a Memphis wife, accused of having shot to death her rival. The defendant was acquitted.

Tennessee, hardly recovered from the effects of a bitter war about evolution, now digs up dusty blue laws to battle over. Tennessee lives up to its reputation as the "Volunteer State."

One-fourth of all indictments recently returned by the Dallas county grand jury were for carrying concealed weapons. Dallas counties evidently believe in preparedness.

The Selma Times-Journal reports almost a "land boom" in Dallas county. Outside capital is beginning to pour in. The condition exists, largely over the remainder of the state. People of America are learning that Alabama land is valuable and desirable.

Stay in your own business. What if Babe Ruth were to attempt the real estate game, such is possible, but of what avail when he is specializing in baseball, making a kingly income? When you enter a field you are illy adapted to, or try to run the other fellows business, the usual result is running the head in the wall and the death of the other fellow's business. Stay in the realm in which you are suited, you will benefit as well as those around you.

Judge Osceola Kyle's charge to the grand jury, delivered Monday morning explained emphatically the needs of the people. Judge Kyle lay the responsibility of good government on the shoulders of the people, the people begin the enforcement of the law and they end the enforcement of the law. It is a matter for the people to take care of from start to finish. "Don't criticize the other fellow for breaking the law unless you have the backbone to stand behind your criticisms, criticism will do no good in stopping law breakers from their usual course. Sad as it may seem, it takes prison sentences to end such practice. Finding in this day of prosperity is like pouring water on the proverbial duck."

The weather, the most interesting subject in the world when there is nothing else to talk about, again is a subject for discussion in North Alabama. The past few days have only further demonstrated to the people of this section that there is little need for going to other points if climate is the object. Nights cool, days cheery with a slight warmth and this in February. This is attributed to the ground hog, but frankly it is but another story of the worth of North Alabama. For potential wealth, good living conditions, good weather and general happiness our section is unbeatable. Our population figures do not decrease, growth is going on about us all the time, we are most comfortably situated in the garden spot of the earth.

NEWS STORY ASKS IF CHARLES M. SCHWAB WILL PLAY MONTE CARLO

A newspaper story, along with the picture of Charles M. Schwab, asks if while Mr. Schwab, steel magnate, is touring Europe if he will pit his millions against the roulette bankers at Monte Carlo. That seems a foolish question to ask, Schwab is a financier, not a fool. Schwab has been in the business game too long not to have learned that there is nothing given in this world for nothing. Material gain is based on hard work, application, service, courtesy, and a score of other qualities which every man must possess to a degree if he is to become successful.

Is Schwab going to play against the bankers at Monte Carlo, obviously not, his game is not their game. He is in a business that requires shrewdness, skill and brain power, he is not depending on guess work, hunches or luck. The latter three may hold out for a while, but sooner or later, as the story goes, there is a time for payment and when that time comes there are no kindhearted folk to agree to terms. Play the game square and fair, rely on your own ability and confidence, place your trust in friends who have proved themselves and no such quality as luck will ever bother.

THE STILLMAN CASE AND NOTORIETY

The Stillmans have sailed for Europe on a trial honeymoon, they're going to try life all over again after having shown each other the meanest side of their characters. They possibly believe that reconciliation now, after all the cruel and harsh things they have done to and said about each other, proves that they were made for each other in the beginning. The Stillmans cannot be laboring under any false impression, their case is certainly notorious and not famous. There is nothing in the whole story that is convincing that there is a good side to either one of the couple, though our teachings say that there is a good and a bad to everyone. They have battled each other, hurled challenges and ultimatums at each other, ripped character to shreds, ruined the lives of their children and now the world wonders if they are in a right frame of mind, or did they take the last step to bring them into the columns of every newspaper in the nation in the short space of a few hours. They have succeeded in getting into the public eye, but at what a cost? Fame costs little but toil and honest endeavor, a man or a woman do not have to be known the world over to become famous, they may be famous in their own home town for treating others as they themselves would be treated. Provincialism is no bar to greatness, neither is it a bar to notoriety, yet there is a vast difference. The story of the aged Arkansas doctor who gave her life to the service of her people without even making known her identity, as compared with the Stillman case will spell the difference between fame and notoriety.

A FEW HOURS BEFORE THE BEGINNING OF A TEST

Only a few hours separate the Twin Cities from one of the greatest civic tests ever tried here, the hospital campaign opens tomorrow morning. Tomorrow morning the workers who have been preparing for weeks will begin a whirlwind canvassing campaign that must lead only to a successful conclusion of the Benevolent hospital drive, giving these cities a hospital that has no peer in cities of similar size in North Alabama.

This campaign is going to be put over with the heart of every citizen in tune with the work. The sweat of the brow is likewise necessary, but there could be no more worthy object, it is the casting of dollars into the balance for the saving of human beings, could there be any better work for your dollars?

The campaign is not going to break anybody, payments are to be made in five installments, or in 12 monthly payments, is there any reason to believe that you will not be able to contribute a substantial sum to the drive? Don't start on the plan of denying yourself some object for the sake of contributing to the hospital, that's not going to work, it would soon become a drag, you would dislike hearing the name of the hospital mentioned. Here—25 cents a week, over the period of a year and you can make a $12 pledge. Fifty cents a week or $2.00 each month will make a $25 pledge. A dollar a week means you have contributed $52 for a good cause. Two dollars a week will give you a comfortable average and make you feel that you have played your part in building an institution which is a benefit to your cities and your section. You're not giving a cent, don't get that into your mind, you are investing. Investing as you would in a safe business proposition that sooner or later would pay you dividends. You cannot know at what hour the hospital is going to be needed for one of your family, yourself, or your best friend. In that case is the money well invested.

The campaign lasts until the morning of February 19 and by that time campaign directors and leaders believe that the full sum will be subscribed, but that sum will not be in hand at that time unless you have invested your share. Don't wait to see what your neighbor is giving, don't stop to see if he is going to subscribe, of what interest is that to you, if you are doing your share for the sake of suffering humanity? It is not what the other fellow does in this campaign that is going to count, it's you and your influence and your dollars that will tell the final story that your cities have been tried and found not wanting. It is a civic and human test, that depends upon every citizen. You won't regret your contribution.

THE CURE IS WORSE THAN THE BITE IN THIS CASE

Talking of the present day tendency to be married in haste and repent at leisure, the Tuscaloosa News takes occasion to rap a Chicago judge who asks that annulments for marriages of high school students be made more difficult to obtain. The Daily sees it in the same light as the Tuscaloosa paper, the cure is worse than the bite.

The News declared that "A Chicago judge is greatly exercised because, he says, so many high school youngsters are getting married without intending to stay married. After a month or so, he says, they get the marriage annulled on the grounds that they lied about their ages. He wants these annulments more difficult to obtain. Something ought to be done, of course. But it is rather absurd to insist on tying together for life two people who married at the age of 15 and then found it was an awful mistake."

The News has used the power of suggestion, suggesting to the reader that a cure should be provided for such practice and it seems to The Daily that such a cure can be found if the precaution is taken prior to the saying of the marriage ceremony. Parents will become factors in such case, where now, if the newspapers tell an accurate story of the life of today, parents are living to provide for the coming generation. Parents will take a firm hand in teaching their children some of the deeper principles of life. Then there is the matter of law enactment, we hesitate to mention law enactment, there are so many useless laws now in effect. State laws already provide certain marriageable ages but that is not enough. There should be need for providing a certificate that will ascertain the financial as well as the physical condition of the bridegroom. Clear up the financial status of the youth of today, making him solely dependent upon himself for providing suitable environment for a wife and children and there will be fewer foolish marriages of boys and girls who have never known the meaning of responsibility. Marrying and then going to live with father and mother is a fond practice of a great many love birds who cannot live without each other and is a desirable practice if father and mother are able to provide for an addition to the family, in most cases, the middle classes financially, mother and father cannot do that. They have toiled to rake and scrape every possible cent to send son or daughter to school and then to college. Son is thrown upon his own to look after his wife and without the resourceful check book of his father, married life soon becomes a monotonous condition. Then comes the divorce decree and with light hearts they part from each other with no more ceremony than brushing the lint from the coat before going to town early in the day. Provide a financial basis that is necessary for the living of two and there will soon be an effect on the number of child marriages.

LOS ANGELES to many Easterners means a town near Hollywood, the moving picture center. But when you come here and drive from your hotel in Los Angeles east to Pasadena, choosing the roads lightest in traffic, driving at good speed, you travel for 45 minutes through a solid city solidly and beautifully built. In that time you could drive from the Battery all through New York and beyond the Bronx.

FROM MONICA at the edge of the Pacific through Hollywood to Los Angeles on to Pasadena, still farther on to San Bernardino and beyond the Mojave, through Victorville to Barstow and still beyond there will be a great, closely settled region as this Western population pushes back eastward.

From San Diego on the south up past Los Angeles to San Francisco American energy has built a great Pacific empire of which the Eastern mind has not conception.

WHEREVER you live, opportunity is at your elbow, from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, along the East coast everywhere between the two oceans, in Florida or Wisconsin, opportunity beckons.

In any corner of this country the man who has thrift and its cravings to back up intelligent judgment can make himself independent permanently well off.

But until YOU HAVE SEEN CALIFORNIA you cannot say that you really know this country its opportunities, and are ready to choose.

HERE you have an absolutely perfect climate, all the year round, never too hot, never scorching, never cold. And here you may use Napoleon's phrase and say, truly, that "Careers are open to talent." Here in California you can invest your money safely and profitably. Here, youth, energy, intelligence and modest capital will provide you with future independence. And here the man whose life work has provided him with an income will get that income in happiness, peace health and comfort, all that his heart desires, fullest "value" for his money.

ON THE WESTBOUND train a man past 75 "going to California to stay the rest of my life," talked philosophy.

"I used to wonder," said he, "why the Esquimaux were foolish enough to stay up in Greenland, or where, ever they live. In the Arctic Circle eating whale fat sleeping in ice huts without ventilation, going without sunshine six months at a time. I said to me wife once—she's sitting over there—why haven't they got brains enough to pull up and come down to a decent Christian climate? My wife said, 'You're no man to criticize those Esquimaux. Why don't YOU pull up and move us out to California, instead of staying here every winter hugging the stove and nursing your rheumatism?' 'That was enough for me and I am on my way.'"

THIS is a magnificent country, every foot of it is desirable, every village town, city and suburb offers opportunity, BUT SEE CALIFORNIA before you make up your mind.

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am in love with a young man. About two weeks ago he asked me to kiss him but I did not. Now he won't speak to me. Please advise me what to do.

WEeping: Don't cry over this young man, my dear. If he insists that you violate the conventions in order to keep his friendship, he isn't worth your worry. Go about with your friends and wait until this young man "gets over it." And if he doesn't—cross his name from your list of friends.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my early teens, and am very much interested in a young man about two years my senior. I have known him only a few months, but he has never asked to call upon me.

I would like very much to have his company so please advise me what to do. BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: Why don't you invite this young man to call on you, Miss Blue Eyes? If you have tastes and interests in common you will probably spend a very enjoyable evening together—and he will want to come again and again.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

THEATRES

"As tough as an elephant hide" is an erroneous expression.

A pachyderm is encased in a skin, or hide, remarkably thick and hard to puncture. This has led the general public to believe that an elephant must receive a terrific blow if the animal feels it.

That this is not true was proved during the filming of "The Great Love," now playing at the Princess theater.

"Norma," the six-ton elephant, who has one of the principal roles in the all-star cast, became so nervous during the making of a scene that Director Marshall Neilan ordered the cameras stopped and asked the trainer to examine the beast.

The elephant walked about on three legs, nervously holding up the fourth to attract the trainer's attention. A hasty examination was made of the foot to see if it had been injured. When nothing was found amiss the trainer procured a magnifying glass and made a second examination which was also fruitless.

When he was about to give up in despair, Viola Dana, who appears opposite Robert Agnew in the picture, noticed a small lump at the back and near the bottom of the leg. She called the man's attention to it and he soon learned that it was only a tiny bit of chewing gum, which some fan had dropped on the set and "Norma" had picked up accidentally. When it was removed the animal was as happy as a human who had just gotten rid of an ulcerated tooth. "Elephants," says the trainer, "are very sensitive and though their skin is very heavy and thick, it carries a network of tiny nerves that are extremely sensitive."

FAULTY EATING HABITS UNDERMINE VIGOR

The Surest Way to Add Years to Your Life and to Increase Your Efficiency Is to Eat Correctly.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

INCREASING attention is being given all over the world to the prevention of disease by improving the eating habits. In London a health society has been founded and an influential group has pledged its efforts to make the laws of health more widely known.

At a recent meeting of this organization, Lord Oxford and Asquith made a speech on the importance of good health. He noted the advance in the reduction of mortality, but stressed the importance of dealing with the preventable diseases, saying: "These diseases are not the product of nature, but of civilization and the result of our ignorance and carelessness. Many of them are due to our faulty habits and feeding. While malnutrition from an insufficiency of food is, happily, on the wane, many children and adults suffer from malnutrition from wrong feeding."

These are true words. They give emphasis to the widespread neglect of food knowledge which is available to everybody. As Lord Oxford said, "In no part of the field of research has there been so much advance as in the matter of food. Dietetic works twenty years old are now practically obsolete."

Public attention is drawn to this fact in almost every issue of every newspaper. In spite of it, these inherited, faulty habits continue to control our choice of foods. All too frequently, chronic disease and early death may be traced to this source. If you were told, even by a passing stranger, that a portion of a certain road had been undermined by a cloud-burst, you would take a detour of twenty miles to escape the danger.

Is an automobile more important than your life? Why are you not willing to accept the admonition of your family physician, a man who knows your weaknesses and whose head is packed with scientific knowledge which he would gladly impart to you? Why do you disregard his advice and go blindly on the way which leads to destruction? You cannot study the faces of twenty persons selected at random without seeing in several of them the plain evidence of undernourishment. Out of the twenty will be one or two showing signs of disease, which in all probability has resulted from wrong eating.

There is no more important lesson to be learned than a mastery of the fundamentals of the science of foods. You need not become an expert and you need not be counted a "crank" on the subject, but you can learn enough of the science so you will no longer make a play-house of your stomach.

To eat correctly is the surest way to add years to your life and to add efficiency to every year of that life.

Pimpleless

What can I do?

"Oh, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MEMBERS GATHER

Greet Kent Cooper, The General Manager, at Birmingham

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 10.—Gathering here to greet Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, members of the news association in Alabama and members of their staffs will hold a get-together meeting tomorrow. Mr. Cooper will be in Birmingham tomorrow on his first official visit since he assumed the management of the Associated Press and J. E. Pierce, chairman of the State Association called the meeting of the Alabama members for the double purpose of welcoming the new director and planning a program of expansion of service in the section. Mr. Cooper has visited Alabama while he was assistant general manager and has a wide personal acquaintance among the journalists of the state. The state association composed of Alabama member representative from the various papers of the state, meets semi-annually to discuss matters of mutual interest and to promote the general welfare of the territory covered by the papers. Mr. Pierce has announced that Alabama's growth and importance as a mining, industrial and agricultural state has placed it in the forefront, and its newspapers are planning to keep in step with the march of progress. An ambitious program for expansion of the association's activities will be considered as a unit in this program. Mr. Pierce explained that the Associated Press through its State association will do its full share in placing Alabama before the attention of the world.

An attractive program for the day's meeting has been planned for the visitors. After an informal breakfast at a downtown hotel, members and their employees will assemble in the conference room of the Birmingham News for a meeting. Several addresses are scheduled for the meeting, which will open at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Pierce will deliver an address of welcome to Mr. Cooper, and James Chappell, assistant publisher of the News will greet the general manager and the guests. Other members are also expected to participate in the program.

U. L. McCall, superintendent of the Southern division of the Associated Press, with headquarters in Atlanta will also be present at the meeting and is expected to say a few words. Mr. McCall has been a frequent visitor to the territory in the past and is well known to members and their staffs.

E. M. Henderson, correspondent in charge of the Birmingham bureau and secretary of the Alabama association will be official host during the day.

"I" FAVORITE WORD OF CHILD PRIMER SURVEY REVEALS

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—A study of the vocabulary of the child of five, in an attempt to work out a basic word list for primers, shows the word "I" is by far the most frequent word used. It is shown by a survey of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college of Chicago.

A record of the conversations in thirty kindergartens in the United States and Canada, during a period of four weeks, and tabulation of the results, show the word "I" was used 1,044 times while "the" which comes second, was used only 616 times, in the list of the 1,000 most commonly used words.

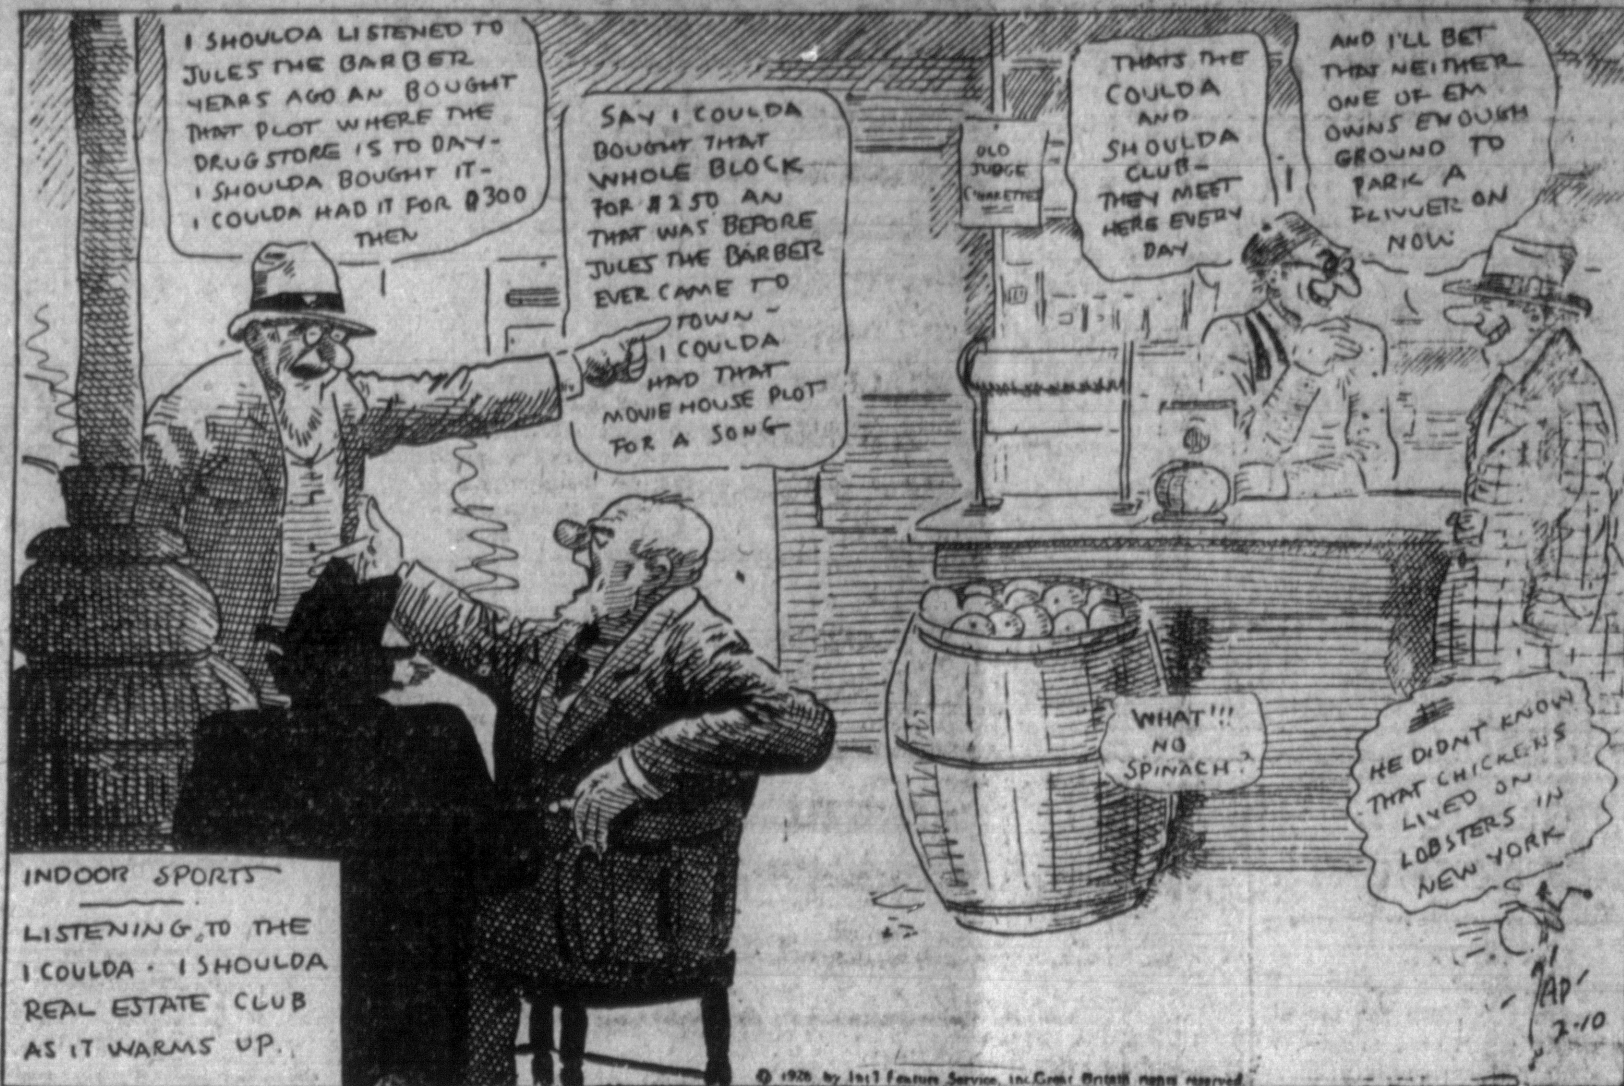

"Me" and "my" occur among the first twenty of the most frequently used words, while "teacher" comes eighth, perhaps because the tests were taken at school. "Mother" is the twenty-fourth word on the list in relative frequency, while "father" is way down at eighth. "Papa" seems to be entirely obsolete.

The child's "what" ranks thirteenth

Baseball Dope Is Spilled Slowly As News Drifts In About Cities Franchise

News drifts in from day to day to the effect that Albany-Decatur is applying for a franchise in organized baseball, but the rumor is unconfirmed so far as the writer has been able to learn. It is evident that some work has been going on, else Albany-Decatur would not be listed along with the Shoals cities as the newest entrants into organized baseball.

Whatever the source of the negotiation it is hoped that action has taken the place of talk and that matters are being whipped into definite shape so that the cities will be included in the realm of the national sport.

Albany-Decatur has been lacking for some years in sport interest, no matter what the sport. With an organized baseball team here, playing on regular schedule with other neighboring cities and players drawing regular pay checks, interest of the fans is going to be revived. The revival will not only ten to make baseball a success, but will benefit basketball and football alike. Every team that has stepped into the public limelight in the last few years has been a losing proposition for the backers. High schools and independent organizations have been forced to pay heavy at the end of each year, local people have refused to stand behind them in paying a small admission fee to get in the gate. So long as games were played at the old-Cooper-Wells field there was a good crowd, it was difficult to find who had paid and who had not, so the local teams were forced to suffer. Lack of equipment of teams which has been sorely criticised by local fans can be attributed to the apparent dislike of fans to put out the necessary admission fee. School and Y. M. C. A. backers cannot afford to go on year after year unless there is some return on the investment.

Returning to the talk of organized baseball, it means that the cities are going to be listed with the foremost in the nation, baseball is a loudspeaker when it comes to advertising and the team itself usually speaks for the type of city which it represents, tho in some cases poor management is to blame for poor showings. These cities, the writer thinks, will welcome a return of organized baseball. The game will offer something out of the routine of affairs, enliven the spirit and keep all semblance of gloomy atmosphere on the outside.

ENGINEERS GO FORWARD

Engineers are still going forward in bowling at the Y. M. C. A., and the Decoras are backing up, according to matches played this week. The former team won 4 points while the latter team lost that many points. The Go-Getters team is also showing life here of late. That is the team which swamped the Decoras completely this week.

The real pin twirlers for the last two matches, are Gallagher, Powell and Landers, according to scores below.

Tonight the following men will bowl a practice game to prepare the first seven men for that second cup match with Huntsville Central Y. M. C. A. Saturday night at Huntsville. The men are Yarbrough, Dr. Baugh, Sims, Gallagher, Wilson, Deering, J. E. Morrow, Chief Sorber, Convert and McCauley.

Shakespeare Up-to-Date Tells Motorists' Terrible Toll

SHAKESPEARE'S seven ages of mankind made no reference to the number who were cut off in their prime by automobiles. If he had, suggests the Stewart-Warner Safety Council, it might have run something like this parody on his famous lines:

At first the infant,
Killed by a truck while in his nurse's arms.
And then the careless schoolboy with his marbles,
Playing in the streets after his lessons
Are over. And then the lover,
Absent-minded, walking with a box of candy
Under his arm, to see his loved one,
Is struck by a taxi and hurtled to the ground.
Next comes the gay young blood
Out for his evening's entertainment, whom
Sixty miles an hour lands forty years too soon
Upon a slab in some unfriendly morgue.
And then the banker, full of worldly pride and honors,
Jay-walks across the street between two mighty deals of finance,
And wakes to find Saint Peter quizzing him.
Next, the family man, with years upon him,
Confused and jostled in the crowd,
Mistaken, and dies amid thanksgiving
That his last premium was paid up.
And last, hoary age, tottering and feeble,
Perhaps with crutch, or eye too dimmed with time,
An easy victim for some selfish motorist,
Sins care, sins thought, sins skill, sins everything—but speed.
The chart above shows what proportion of all accidents happening to each age group are automobile accidents. The toll is highest for the very young and very old. This situation is explained partly by the heedlessness of the young and the infirmity of old age. Moreover, these two groups are least involved in industrial accidents which makes their automobile casualties constitute a larger part of their total accidents.

A drive for new members is being planned by the West Huntsville Y. M. C. A. The organization already boasts a membership of more than 1,000, and is said to be one of the strongest organizations of its kind in an industrial district.
